

HAPPENINGS IN AND ABOUT TOWN

ODDS ON HUGHES ARE SMALL HERE

All Bets, Excepting the Big Ones, Are Placed at Even Money.

Election betting in South Bend is at its height this week and it is estimated that close to $100,000 will change hands in this city as a result of next Tuesday's voting. Owing to the overwhelming sentiment in the county in favor of Wilson, Republicans are refusing to give any great odds in this vicinity and practically all of the betting is even money on the national outcome.

For the first time during the campaign a large bet giving odds on Hughes was posted in this city Thursday. A local man placed $5,000 on Hughes against $4,500 and this bet is expected to be taken, for it is the first chance local bettors have had to get odds on Wilson.

Last week $20,000 worth of republican money was dumped into South Bend by Chicago men and it was quickly taken by Wilson supporters here. One local democrat brought something like $13,000 back from Chicago to be placed on Wilson.

Make Hughes Favorite. Eastern supporters of Hughes are giving slight odds, the prevailing prices in New York being 10 to 8 and 10 to 9. That Wilson sentiment is growing in the east is shown by the fact that only a few weeks ago the republicans were offering 10 to 7 on Hughes and early in the campaign the betting was two to one on the r. o. p. candidate.

Thursday morning a bet of $500 was placed on Hughes at even money and it was taken. Another bet was $100 that Hughes would carry New York and $50 that he would carry Illinois. Bets of $50 that Wilson would carry Ohio and $25 that he would carry West Virginia were offered Thursday.

Betting on the local candidates favors the democrats. Two bets of $50 to $100 that the republicans would not elect a candidate in St. Joseph county were made this week. One democrat has bet $20 to $15 that Keller beats Jones for county treasurer and gave the same odds that Bailey is elected sheriff over Swanson.

Two life-long republicans of South Bend have bet $500 each that Wilson is elected. Other local bets that have been posted are: $50 Barnhart is elected to congress; $35 to $25 Hagerty is elected state senator; $50 Gorski is elected state representative; $50 Bailey beats Swanson.
